

CHIMDINMA UNOMA UFODIKE

PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am a very thorough and effective listener who immediately puts into practice and act on, the instructions that is given to me. Being an energetic and ambitious student of the law, helps me to read carefully and understand every single information that is presented to me and approach any task cautiously and responsibly . I am a woman of patience, kindness, hospitality and unquestionable integrity. I have practiced the act of multitasking in my day to day activities due to being a student and a daughter. I enjoy swimming and reading novels at any free time i have. My reading and writing skills has improved drastically due to the amount of novels i read every day in my freetime. I have been learning Korean language for almost a year, but not very Fluent yet, but practicing everyday to be completely fluent in the language. Being self taught in Korean helps me to love and understand the cultures and languages of other people. One of my goals in life before was to be a flight attendant, but due to the fact of my love for people, books and solving cases, i ventured into law and hope to become a corporate or gender lawyer to fight and lend a helping hand to women or people whose rights are being trampled on. My love for studying and practicing law makes me want to further learn about laws and rights not only of my country but of other countries in the world. I would love to further study law in this establishment as a graduate or a transfer student. I am currently in my fourth year studying law in the university of Lagos and if my Cgpa is not high enough due to some challenges i faced in school. I am ready to take exams or harder AP or IB courses to prove my determination and love for reading, learning and practicing law.
