

AMUSA EMMANUEL ENITAN

UNIVERSITY OF MEMPHIS, USA

I hereby express my interest to study in one of the world's most prestigious citadel of knowledge and learning to commence my academics and hone my skills to make great impact in and out of the 4-walls of the institution. My leadership ethos was cultivated in the dynamic realm of consulting and social impact. As the Head of Advisory and consulting at Catalyst Innovations and Network and presently working as a team lead in management consulting for my organization The Morgans consulting, I navigated complex operational challenges while inspiring a team towards shared goals. Simultaneously, I spearheaded a global movement empowering youths to become transformational leaders emerging out of Africa.

Nigeria, a kaleidoscope of cultures, languages, and traditions, has been my living laboratory. From the bustling cities to rural enclaves, I've immersed myself in the rich tapestry of our diversity. These experiences, coupled with international interactions, have honed my intercultural competence and empathy. I've witnessed firsthand the power of human connection and the imperative of bridging divides.

Beyond the professional and personal spheres, my commitment to service has been a guiding star. Through platforms like ActionAid and the Nike Opalemo Sickle Cell Foundation (NOSF), I've championed the rights and well-being of children. The plight of these young souls ignited a fire within me, propelling me to advocate for their protection, health, and education. These experiences have not only expanded my worldview but also deepened my sense of purpose.

As I aspire to contribute meaningfully to the global community, the University of Memphis stands as a beacon of knowledge and innovation. Its commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive environment aligns perfectly with my own values. I am confident that my academic foundation, leadership acumen, global perspective, and dedication to service make me a strong candidate for this scholarship. I am eager to immerse myself in the vibrant intellectual community and I am committed to making a lasting impact both within and beyond the university's walls.
